Intramural Debates This Week

Delta Sigma Rho Gives Cups To Winners

THE FIRST ROUND of the intramural debates for the silver cups, offered by Delta Sigma Rho for the winning fraternity and sorority, will take place Friday. Organizations participating in the first round have been requested to meet in Gov-101 at 8:10 p.m. Friday.

In the first round, Sigma Chi will take the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Own and Operate the Railroads," against Phi Sigma Kappa, and Theta Delta Chi will uphold the affirmative against Kappa Sigma.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, Acacia, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Tau Sigma Rho, Sigma Nu and Kappa Alpha drew byes into the second round.

Sororities Competing

The sororities participating in the first round will be: Sigma Kappa, affirmative; against Delta Zeta, Colonial, Campus Club, affirmative; against Phi Sigma Sigma. Byes will be Chi Omega, Phi Mu; Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Delta Pi.

The draw for the second round will be made after the finish of the first round on Friday evening. All contestants, according to Student Director Joe Clonety, should prepare to debate both sides of the question.

Judges

He also announced that the judges for the first round will be Miss Phoebe Jane Beall, prominent woman debater last year; Mrs. Benjamin Manchester, who as Hilda Hayes was prominent in forensic activities several years ago; Dix W. Price, varsity debater of several years ago; and Harryman Dorsey, prominent attorney and one time member of the Political Science Department faculty.

Clonety emphasized that teams must appear at the time scheduled or be eliminated automatically, as no debates can be postponed. Alternates are permitted and the organizations entered are urged to protect themselves by having alternates prepared.

The rules bar any person who has participated in intercollegiate debate at George Washington or elsewhere from representing their organization in the intramural debates. Fledgling, however, are considered as actives and thus may be used in this competition.

The Campus In Brief

Ward Sociology

JOHN R. MURDOCK, representative from Arizona, will be the guest speaker at the banquet of the Ward Sociology Society to be held Saturday at 6:01 Brookville Road, Chevy Chase, Maryland. Tickets are $1.15; the deadline for reservations is tomorrow.

Symphony Club

THE SYMPHONY CLUB will meet Thursday night at 8 at the apartment of Jerry Rosey at 2939 28th St. N.W. Stanley Metalitz, who presented a concert of recorded music to Avukah last week, has arranged the program and will give the program notes. The recordings will be of a varied nature.

Alpha Pi Epsilon

ALPHA EPSILON, professional Home Economics Club, held an initiation April 13 at Columbian House. The four new members are Philomena Magato, Cecelia Ksiozek, Elizabeth Holden and Ruth Cohen. Following the initiation ceremony, there was a banquet at Brook Farms Tea House, at which the initiates entertained with a skit on Home Economics.

Miss Kirkpatrick and Miss Town gave greetings from the faculty. Mrs. Jean Jack represented the alumnae and Mrs. Jessie Lamb, the actives.

Gate and Key

GATE AND KEY will meet at 8:30 tonight at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house. This will be the first meeting over which the newly-elected officers will preside. Initiation of the newly tapped members will be considered.

Omicron Delta Kappa

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA will meet Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the Phi Sigma Kappa house. Officers for next year will be elected, and new members nominated.

Literary Magazine

THERE WILL BE an important meeting of the Literary Club tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. in D-103 to discuss the proposed literary magazine. Any one interested—old, new, prospective and non-member—is welcome.

Pi Delta Speaker

Journalism Fraternity To Hear Dennis

FRANK L. DENNIS, city editor of the Washington Post, will be the principal speaker at the banquet and initiation of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, next Monday at the Faculty Club.

Edward Pollard, ace foreign news correspondent, may also speak, depending on the international situation at that time.

Abe Simon, a member of the sub-editorial staff of The Hatchet, will be given the Pi Delta Epsilon reward for being the most outstanding first-year man for '38-'39 on The Hatchet staff at the banquet.

Two years' outstanding work on a school publication is one of the qualifications for this fraternity. Announcements of the pledges will be made in next week's Hatchet.

All Pi Deltas are urged to get in touch with Miss Jane Mann to secure tickets.

Fred Youngblood, vice president, announced that Pi Delta Epsilon will cooperate with the Literary Club in the publication of the new magazine, "The Cocked Hat."

Buff 'n Blue Room Friday

RESULTS OF THE campus-wide elections Thursday and Friday will be publicly announced for the first time at the Buff 'n Blue Room, Friday evening.

The campus 'dry night club' will open its doors (in the Student Club) at 10 p.m. A co-op hook or 75 cents is the cover charge.

Art Brown, popular radio artist, will be the guest Master of ceremonies.

Religious Activity Westminster Club

THE WESTMINSTER CLUB will meet at 7:30 tonight in Columbian House. Dr. D. Hobart Evans, pastor of Hyattsville Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker. Dr. Evans, a graduate of Bucknell, is director and vespers leader of the annual Presbyterian Young Peoples' Summer Conference at Hood College. A cordial invitation to be present tonight is extended to all.

Baptist Student Union

THE BAPTIST STUDENT UNION will hold its regular business meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Columbian House.

The monthly District and Maryland meeting will be held in Baltimore on April 27. John R. Brock will take part in the program, and Haley Scurluck, president of the local group, will preside.

Christian Science

THE SEMI-MONTHLY MEETING of the Christian Science Organization will be held on the second floor of Columbian House Thursday at 8:10 p.m.

Avukah

AVUKAH meets tonight at 8 in Columbian House.

About 50 were present at the concert of recorded music held last Tuesday.

Chapel

DR. RAYMOND J. SEEGER will speak on "Every Man's Creed" at the Wesley Club meeting to be held in Gov-201 Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mortar Board Gives Apple Polishing Lunch

ANOTHER of G. W.'s famous Apple Polishing Luncheons will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at 101 Government. Chief Apple Polisher Dean Kayser will personally demonstrate how it is done. Assisting will be Drs. Britt, Gray, and Ragatz, and other celebrities. Mortar Board will serve as hostesses for the occasion.

Vaughan Is Made Officer In National Flying Club

JOHN E. VAUGHAN, president of the University Flying Club, was elected secretary-treasurer of the National Intercollegiate Flying Club last Wednesday at their sixth annual conference at the Shoreham Hotel. Vaughan and Allen Rothenberg represented the University at the conference which is made up of the separate clubs at approximately 35 of the larger colleges and universities in the United States.

Guests of Honor

Among the guests of honor at the closing banquet were Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, Chief of Aeronautics, U. S. N.; Brigadier General B. K. Yount, Assistant Chief of Air Corps; Robert H. Hinckley, Chairman, Civil Aeronautics Authority; and other members of the C. A. A. Grover Loening, Honorary President of the N. I. F. C.; and C. C. Thompson, Assistant to the President of United Airlines.

Speaking at the banquet, Mr. Hinckley called the civil pilot training program "a turning point in our national life because it is preparing young people to live in a three dimensional world in which aviation will set the tempo."

William T. Piper of the Piper Aircraft Co. spoke at a luncheon on Tuesday afternoon and praised the C. A. A. for the improvements it has made in methods of flight training. Some of the major airlines presented trophies to various clubs for their safe flying records. Major McBain of the Army and Lt. Wagner of the Navy discussed the military flying schools at Randolph and Kelly Fields and the Naval Flight Training Station at Pensacola.

Officials Elected

Other officials elected at the conference were Larry Zigmund of Detroit University, president; Henry Gaylord, John Fridly, Hallock Hoffman and Frank Martin, regional vice presidents.

A flying meet has been scheduled for the 20th, 21st and 22nd of June at Lockhaven, Pa., and a number of local pilots plan to attend. Allen Rothenberg has already dated Miss Peggy Davis of Purdue University for the dance which will be held on the 20th.

Dorothy Studt Is Oratory Winner

DOROTHY STUDT won the Freshman Oratorical Contest last Friday night at Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity house. For her speech entitled "So Near and Yet So Far" she will be awarded a silver cup on class night in June.

Attacking "War Propaganda in the United States," Bill Stett took second honors, while Dorothy Matthews, the only other contestant, easily walked away with the third prize speaking on "Wife or Business Women."

The contest took place in the library of Phi Sigma Kappa before a sizable crowd. Carl Betsch, chapter president, presided.

Newman Club Convention Opens Friday

NEWMANITES from Baltimore and Philadelphia, and students from Catholic colleges in New York, Emmetsburg and several other cities will arrive here Friday evening to attend the Middle Atlantic Province Convention of Newman Clubs on April 19, 20, and 21.

The Convention officially opens with the Intercollegiate Cherry Blossom Prom to be held at the Hotel 2400 from 10 until 2. Lake Allen's Alaskans will play for the formal dance, which will be held in the main ballroom of the hotel.

John J. Murray, Province Chairman, will preside at a business meeting to be held Saturday at 11 a.m. Newman Club presidents Temple University, University of Pennsylvania, Maryland University, and other universities in the Middle Atlantic Province Federation will report on the activities of their clubs, and elections will be held for next year's officers of the Middle Atlantic Province.

Marvin Speaks at Luncheon

Following the business meeting there will be a Chaplains' and Delegates' Luncheon at 1 p.m. President Cloyd Heck Marvin, of the University, will be a guest speaker, and Rev. John K. Cartwright, Chaplain of the local Newman Club, will address the delegates.

The Convention will feature the Youth Forum on Current Youth Problems to be held Saturday at 3 p.m. The Reverend Vincent Mooney, Director of the National Council of Catholic Youth, will deliver an opening address, which will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company. Arrangements are being made for the attendance of outstanding Catholic authorities on the subjects to be discussed.

Informal Convention, Capers, including dancing and entertainment will reign at an informal party to be held in the Student Club on Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

The Right Reverend John A. Ryan, D. D., and Harold M. Strophens, two nationally prominent speakers, have been secured for the Communion Breakfast, to be held on Sunday, at 10:30 a.m., at Hotel 2400. Dr. Ryan is Director of the Department of Social Action of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and has filled the chair of

Group Plans Pre-Legal Organization

RECOGNIZING A long standing need of pre-law students in the University, a group of prominent students and faculty members are now organizing a pre-legal society. The society will seek to acquaint undergraduates with requirements for law school, what to expect in law school and will help them select a law school.

During their 4 years of undergraduate work the pre-law students will meet and hear talks by faculty members and prominent members of the bar on various phases of the profession.

The idea originated with Dean Van Vleck of the Law School and several pre-legal students. A committee has been formed to draw up plans for the society. John Daugherty of the School of Government; Paul Yost of Columbian College; Tom Johnston, of the Engineering School; Daniel Fufeld and Herbert Benjamin, of the Junior College; Wayne Kniffin of the Student Bar Association; and Ward McCabe will represent the undergraduate schools on the committee.

The first regular meeting of the society will take place on Tuesday, April 23, at 8 p.m. in the Law Alumni Office on the first floor of Stockton Hall. Dean Van Vleck urges all undergraduate pre-legal students to attend and help organize the society.

Students Join In Symposium Of Dancers

DANCERS of American University, Goucher College, Hood College, Marjorie Webster School, University of Maryland, Wilson Teachers College, and Martha Washington College will be the guests of the University at its annual Dance Symposium Saturday, April 20, at 2:00 p.m. Pierce Hall at 16th and Harvard Sts. N.W. will be the scene of this year's dancing laboratory.

Nine members of the dance group of each of the schools will participate, making a total of seventy-two dancers. Representing the University are Betty Burch, Joan Giles, Mary Henshall, Lucie Pette, and Jerry Rosey of Orchestra and Doris Little, Nancy Marmer, and Josephine Merelman of the Junior Dance Group.

After the address of welcome by Miss Atwell, executive officer of the Department of Physical Education for Women, there will be a 45-minute laboratory period, during which time the main emphasis will be on achieving quality of movement. The guest artist-teacher will be Miss Evelyn Davis, director of the Dance Play House, head of dance at Maryland University and Marjorie Webster School and director of the Maryland Summer School of Dance. Religion, love and hate are the three main themes and each of these is subdivided into three different types. The types of religion are orgiastic, spiritual, and ritual; of love, mother love, love of country, and unrequited; of hate, sinister, physical, and malicious. The techniques in which Miss Davis will lead the group during this period will be pertinent to the quality necessary for the expression of these emotions.

The seventy-two dancers will then be mixed and divided into nine groups, so that each one is representative of several different colleges. Each group will select one of the nine types mentioned and devote one hour to composition on the theme selected. The presidents or managers of the college groups will lead the dancers in this composition.

Presentation of the studies will follow, during which time discussion, criticism, and conclusions will be carried on by Miss Davis.

Tea will be served in the theatre following the symposium. Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Joshua Evans, Mrs. Vinnie Barrows, Mrs. William Crane Johnstone, and Mrs. Henry Gratton Doyle will be hostesses to the faculty members and students of all the various schools at this event.

The head student hostess, Sis Haller, will be assisted by the Junior Dance Group. The presidents of the Panhellenic Council, Women's Student Government Association, Strong Hall Council, and Sorority Hall Council will pour.

Congress Passes Bill And Amends Constitution

LEFTISTS and rightists were still even after a verbal battle constituting the regular meeting of the Student Congress last Thursday night. The leftists (Progressives and Farmer-Laborites) passed the Social Planning Bill and the rightists (Liberal-Democrats) amended the constitution of the Congress.

The Planning Bill was passed as reported with the exception of two minor sections on housing and a provision for compulsory military training. As passed, it provided for unlimited grants for housing, Social Security grants to states on a "block" basis, and the repeal of the Woodrum Act.

Amendments to the Constitution provided for the immediate reallocation of seats on the Executive Council on the basis of representation of the parties, and the return of 50 cents of dues paid to every member of the Congress.

The Electorate Votes This Week

Student Council Election Rules

RULES for the election, as released by Richard McDonald, present Council Advocate, who is charged with the conduct of the election, are as follows:

Activity Books

1. Each student desiring to vote must present his own activity book to those in charge of the poll where he wishes to vote. The last ticket (No. 20) will at that time be torn from the book by those in charge of the polls (no one else may tear such ticket from the book) and the student is then qualified to vote.

2. All activity books presented must have been signed in the usual

Actor Adamson Ages As Season Progresses

WHEN KEITH ADAMSON enrolled in the University in September everyone knew him as a tall, young man without a trace of age in his gait or in his hair. In the past nine months, Adamson has aged forty or fifty years—but the tremendous change is not a tragic story.

Cue and Curtain is responsible for the quick aging, and the climax comes in Adamson's portrayal of Grandpa Vanderhoff in Cue and Curtain's production of "You Can't Take It With You" May 2, 3 and 4.

In the first production of one-act plays this season, Adamson had to whiten his hair to appear as a 60-year-old squire. In the second group of plays, he lost some of his age in order to take a role in the prison-drama, "Release," but the "release" from grandpa roles was only tentative. Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize play, "Our Town," was just around the corner, and Keith donned the bent gait and the crackling voice of Doc Gibbs, who was nigh on to 60 by the time the third act rolled around.

If Adamson thought he couldn't get much older than Doc Gibbs, he didn't know Cue and Curtain. Patsy Walker's original play, "Secession," needed an old grandfather for its leading role, and with a sigh of resignation, Adamson was walking rheumatically and talking as if youth would never return to him again.

Respite only came because of an accident. It was necessary to replace Jack Salamancas in the leading role of Eugene Lerner's "Destiny," and Adamson, noted for quick memorization of lines, took the role with only forty hours' notice, thus playing his first Cue and Curtain role without gray or white hair.

Adamson—the only actor in Cue and Curtain to have appeared in every production of the year—was not sorry. As a reward for his willingness to give half a century for "dear old Cue and Curtain," Director Floyd L. Sparks has placed him in the coveted lead of the George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart farce, "You Can't Take It With You."

The fact that the lead is an old man of much past sixty does not disturb Keith this time, because that old man is lovable, daffy, kind Grandpa Vanderhoff which Lionel Barrymore made so famous in the Columbia Pictures' movie version of the Kaufman-Hart hit. As a role, no actor could ask for more. Grandpa Vanderhoff has his moments of pathos, nostalgia, love, philosophy, humor and farce; and he has some superb dramatic scenes. The appellation "Grandpa Adamson" only brings a chuckle from youngster Adamson, because he knows he has one of the best acting roles ever written.

Reserved seats at fifty cents are now on sale for "You Can't Take It With You" and can be purchased from any member of Cue and Curtain. Public sale at the Student Club desk will begin Monday, April 29th. Blocks of seats for any individuals or organizations are available and arrangements for blocks can be made with Allen L. Dewey, business manager. The production will be given at the Western Presbyterian Church, 1906 H Street.

Hatchet Sports Page Wins Cup At I. N. A. Convention

Tom McCall

THE HATCHET office added one decorative feature to its office Sunday when the cup for first place in Sports was brought home from the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association Convention, held in Bethlehem, Penn., over the week-end.

The decision of the judges, based on three consecutive editions of the paper, was announced at the closing banquet of the convention Saturday night.

Tom McCall, recently resigned, was Sports Editor of The Hatchet at the time the winning issues were published. He was assisted on the sports page by Bill Umstead, John Strong, Frank Mann, Al Lucyk and Dorothy Lewis.

The Pitt News and Westchester State Teachers "Quadrangles" tied for second, and the Drexel Triangle was third in the division. A year ago The Hatchet placed second and last fall tied for third in the I. N. A. judging.

Pessimism

• WHEN THE UNIVERSITY STUDENTS—some small portion of them—approach the election polls Thursday and Friday, they will find two lists of candidates before them, each list bearing the name of a party—Service or Reform.

Now every party, if it is a party, is organized on the basis of certain policies and opinions. A "party," according to Webster, is "a number of persons united in opinion or action, as distinguished from or opposed to, the rest of a community or association." Thus the existence of two parties is justified by a conflict of ideas or at least a difference in program.

And if a student is voting according to what he wishes to see attained, then, if the above definition is true, he is justified in voting according to party.

On our campus, however, the approaching election finds a different situation. From the platforms released by both parties last week it is strikingly evident that little or no difference of policy exists. The programs are almost identical.

Two guides for voting remain: fraternity affiliation (the parties are mainly on fraternity and sorority lines) and individual personalities. Only the most dogmatic would consider the first an idealistic basis.

With only individual abilities logically the dominating factor of selection, one might say "Why not have a coalition council which will utilize all the best material available?" The main ground for opposition to a coalition government is the inability to coordinate conflicting ideas. Where there are no conflicting ideas, there should be little ground for objection to a coalition.

The two party platforms submitted for publication in The Hatchet showed every evidence of haste in composition and failure of complete consideration of the proposed plans. Neither party has made any systematic effort to survey the manner in which it will fulfill its campaign promises. It seems that the parties are more interested in getting their respective candidates elected than in drawing up complete and practical plans for future use.

The conclusion that the only sensible way to vote in the election this week is according to knowledge of the individual capabilities involved is inescapable.

But here the human element enters. Does any single person, let alone the hundreds who will vote, know with reasonable certainty just about what might be expected of each of the candidates? Or all those of any one ticket?

The reader who carefully considers the above will understand why The Hatchet is somewhat pessimistic over the whole business.

No Machines??!

• THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT has announced that voting in the forthcoming election will be by ballot rather than by the use of voting machines, as in the past two years.

Before the "machine era," ballots were used exclusively in student elections. With the latter method in use in 1937, the ballots totaled 2,300. Voting machines were installed, and the total dropped to slightly over 1,000 last year.

Was the difference in the attitude of the students or the effectiveness of the campaigns, or that voting machines cut out the possibility—and practice—of ballot-stuffing and ward-heeling practices of vote tabulating? The question is an interesting one.

The elections will be under the direction of a member of the present Council. For his own protection, as well as for the good of his official reputation and that of the position he holds, The Hatchet suggests, and is prepared to demand if necessary, that he provide adequate and more than adequate supervision of the elections.

Opportunities

• A MODERN UNIVERSITY has a multitude of obligations. It must have a show of the old traditional rah-rah—a campus full of coeds in their socks-skirt-sweater campus costume and Joe's in their coats-of-many-colors and too-short trousers.

It should also, to be a real university, balance its youthfulness with elements of maturity of thought on the part of its faculty and organizations, and provide contact with eminent leaders from the "outside world."

A glance through the past few issues of The Hatchet will show that students here do have opportunity to meet and hear prominent men in their respective chosen field from time to time. For instance, the University has recently featured a conference on economic policy, a three-day symposium on constitutional law, and a conference on Theoretical Physics.

All were well attended, but in such meetings there is almost invariably room for more.

Students should take notice of those meetings and conferences which pertain to their own interests and should attend them as a means of getting an education as contrasted with just meeting the minimum requirements for a degree in college.

Engineering Slants

• THE SIXTIETH anniversary of the founding of the ASME was celebrated by the Washington, D. C. section last Thursday evening at the PEPCO auditorium.

Dean Felker, who was scheduled to be the principal speaker, was unexpectedly called out of town, and could not be present, but the University was still well represented.

Guy B. Watson did his bit of representing by giving a talk on "Fire Hazards." Student speakers from Catholic University and the University of Maryland also gave talks.

Joseph A. Hartman, president of the student branch of the ASME here, acted as chairman during the student-presented program. Joe was also awarded one of the three Junior Memberships which annually go to the student members elected by their respective branches.

• THE AIEE plans to present a student speaker at the May meeting of the student branch.

The only difficulty is that, at the present writing, there is no student speaker. So, here's a chance for any of you EE's who want to expand on any phase of electricity. Just get in touch with Charles G. Kurz, on the balcony at 5 p.m., any day or with Professor Ennis, in his office.

• GAMMA BETA chapter of Theta Tau will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. in D-204.

• REMEMBER to keep May 18 open for the Engineers' Banquet. Plans show plenty of promise that the banquet will be a real success.

• THE CIVIL ENGINEERS will have their big day Friday, April 26, when the local student branch of the ASCE acts as host to the other chapters in the Washington-Maryland area. The occasion, the Fifth Annual Convention, will bring together Johns Hopkins, Maryland, Catholic, and G. W. student engineers in an all-day session, climaxed by a dinner. The regional student conventions were initiated by the G. W. student branch in 1936, in this area.

• SIGMA TAU met last Wednesday, but adjourned before completing consideration of the proposed revision of the Engineers' Council Constitution. Discussion of the constitution will be continued a week from tomorrow, when the chapter will have a dinner meeting.

• THE COACHING CLASS conducted by Sigma Tau will meet as usual Friday at 7:30 p.m. in D-203. This is a great opportunity for anyone having trouble with a course, to get straightened out by members of the honorary engineering fraternity, who are prepared to tutor anyone in anything (almost).

• THERE ARE probably dozens of owners of slide rules in the Engineering School, who are not getting the full benefit from their slide rules. If you are one of these—if you don't know what to do with a CIE or an LLO scale, drop around to the slide-rule class tomorrow evening, or any Wednesday evening, at 7:30, in M. E. 300, and let Professor Koster straighten you out.

Off Campus

Trouble

• THE DISSOLUTION of Theta Nu Epsilon Fraternity from the campus of the University of Missouri was ordered recently after it had been discovered that the death of a Missouri student had been the direct result of his initiation into the fraternity.

T. N. E. had existed for 45 years at old Missou and had for 43 of those years been a fine upstanding organization. (In 1938 members of the fraternity broke into a sorority house and caused "considerable damage.")

More Trouble

• EDITORS of the University of Hawaii year book ran into a little trouble the other day, when they decided to hold a Glamour Boy Contest.

When nominations began pouring in, they found that guys like King and Arthur Campbell were going to have to compete with fellows like Duke Cho Choy and Gary Hiraoka, not forgetting Minobu Ueyehara.

The problem was solved by dividing the contest into five classifications: Caucasian, Cosmopolitan, Japanese, Chinese, and Korean. So the way things stand now, there'll be five Glamour Kings—another form of plural executive.

Still More Trouble

• ANOTHER CONTEST was taking it on the chin at the University of Detroit.

After the Frosh Frolic Committee had completed final plans for an election to discover the "Ideal Freshman Coed," they were slipped a mild message from the Dean of Women which put the slug on the whole matter.

"We just don't do that sort of thing," the Dean-ess commented affably.

Latest rumors from the Detroit campus suggested that an "unofficial" election might be held. (Undercover Oomph.)

Propaganda

• IN LINE with its proper function of presenting all sides of campus questions, The Hatchet last week offered Service and Reform Parties each 20 column inches of space for whatever personal advertising purposes they might wish. The following material was received from officials in the parties:

Reform Party Demands Action, In Condemning Hibernation

• THE REFORM PARTY invites the student body to participate in a movement to rebuild our student government.

The first necessity is removal of the machine, which has failed in three long years of hibernation to live up to the opportunities afforded it under the "functional" plan of student government.

Irresponsible and inefficient in itself, the machine has failed to show any response to demands from students. To be specific:

Throughout this entire year the machine has failed to recognize or support a highly important group of young students—the Pre-Medical Society.

Support Pre-Meds

The Reform Party pledges that its Student Council will support this group in formation of a Pre-Med Council, and will install a member on the Student Council.

The machine has ignored the Religious Clubs, the latest instance being in failing to notify them in time to allow them to participate in elections of a Miscellaneous Representative. The President of the Baptist Student Union protested to the Machine's Advocate, and his protest was ignored.

Again, the Reform Party pledges support in formation of a Religious Council, and will install a member on our Student Council.

Similarly, the Machine's Advocate failed altogether to notify the Band of an election for Music Representative, and the Band therefore did not participate at all.

Hibernation

Claims and promises are easy—when the machine simply hibernates and doesn't deliver. To be specific again:

The machine claims to have put on the first Forum in three years—which is amusing, in view of the fact that this same machine has been in full control of the Council and the Forum Directorate during that period. Why only one Forum in three years?—Hibernation.

The Reform Party has pledged itself to Action here also—and its platform calls for two all-University Forums in each semester.

Amusing claim No. 2: Vinnie de Angelis lowered the price of blue books in the Student Club, and the machine is trying to "cop" the credit.

The price of Club items is entirely beyond control or direction of the Council, and any other claim is wholly false. Why doesn't the machine promise a 3-cent coke, with ice cream on the side, and see if Mr. de Angelis will deliver?

Boasts Bersek

Amusing claim No. 3: The machine's sub-title of party that "does the work." What work? Example: The machine's presidential hopeful, Mr. X, is currently the Council's Program Director—and it is of this "work" that a faculty member of the Student Life Committee said:

"It is unfortunate that Mr. X is not carrying out his duties, which have been taken over by my office."

That's quite some "doing the work!"

We have oodles of nice promises which the machine would like to build into a dream castle to Hibernation in next year. Example:

The machine lyrically shouts for a School of Music! We're for it—but can the Council afford a million or so for it? Not yet—nor can the University.

Until the money is in sight, the Reform Party will simply recommend the credit be given for music work in our Glee Clubs now equivalent to a full course each semester—the same as in other endeavors.

"We're For It!"

The same with the new Engineering Building promised by the machine. We're for it—who isn't? But can the Council afford it? Here's another prize example of "work":

For several years past, Independents have operated a bookstore, doing several hundred dollars' worth of business annually in second-hand books, at substantial savings to many students.

Last year they turned it over to the Council, with the understanding it would be expanded into a cooperative store to sell new books as well as used. The answer:

The bookstore promptly collapsed, and with it the opportunity of saving, even on second-hand books.

The Reform Party pledges the re-opening of the store, with expansion into a cooperative store, with a branch in the Law School.

And That's Not All!

There's part of the dreadful story that we have space for. There's plenty more—for it's the accumulated record of machine failures of three long years of hibernation.

To end this condition, a group of earnest students—fraternity, sorority, and Independent—have united in the Reform Party to bring a sense of social responsibility into our student government—to turn that government into what it ought to be.

An efficient Student Council, based on merit, and pledged to ac-

Service Party Asks Students To Consider Merits Of Parties

Next Thursday and Friday campus elections will again take place. During these two days the students of The University will choose the members of the student body whom they wish to have represent them during the coming year.

It is for this reason that The Service Party strongly urges every student to vote on one of these two days and thus participate in student elections. The Service Party wishes that the student body compare the two platforms and candidates in the light of past achievement and in the light of achievement in next year's promises.

The platform of The Service Party was designed primarily for the purpose of execution when the party comes into office next year and not for the purpose merely of obtaining votes from the student body.

With the view of past accomplishments in mind the Service Party chose John Sullivan to represent them in the coming campaign. John Sullivan has taken an active part in campus activities for the past three years and has been Co-director of the Food Drive, an officer in his social fraternity, and has for the past year served on the Student Council as Program Director. This experience should serve him well if elected President for the coming year.

As has been stated before, every one of the planks in the platform was considered in the light of possibility of achievement and it is firmly believed by the Service Party that they can be accomplished.

Last year the Student Council was able to carry out every one of its planks in its platform and this year has gone far towards achieving the promises outlined in next year's platform.

Last February the Student Council took over the Student Cooperative Book Store with the purpose of establishing a cooperative store which could sell new as well as second-hand books. Work has gone on toward the establishment of such a book store and every indication points toward its establishment in the near future.

Last year the Victory Ball was inaugurated by the Student Council and proved itself to be a decided success. It was the beginning of the most successful social season the Council has even given. These are but a few of the many projects of the Student Council this year and gives an indication as to how the Service Party carries out its work.

The Service Party asks YOU, as a member of the student body, to consider the achievements of the party that does the work, and earnestly asks for your vote, but above all it asks that every student on the campus vote next Thursday and Friday so that whomever is elected will truly represent the student body.

• YOU PAYS YER money and you takes yer cherce, you will remember. If you have but one cherce this week of the local film hostels, however, you may have a dickens of a time taking it. You may be dipped into sheerest entertainment at one house and at another be plunged into a mood as deep as the moon.

Since we read but one best-selling novel the past year (boast intended), "Rebecca" didn't happen to be on the list. But we were well aware of what the Daphne Du Maurier tale was all about courtesy an Orson Welles' radio version. We wax thus autobiographical with a point in mind, possibly two.

Though we were well aware throughout the film of what was coming next and was coming ultimately, the mood being set lost no intensity. In the second place, a radio version was well able to preserve the first person narration and general mystery necessary to that mood. Radio is like that when handled expertly. A film, which is more than a flock of air waves providing their own mysticism, is under the obligation of showing as well as sounding.

Expecting Something

In short, we were expecting something, just as the readers of the book, and we got it.

And we got it, of course, via Mr. Alfred Hitchcock of "The Lady Vanishes" and other British mystic filmware. With a flock of floodlights sifting through a handful of trees and a decent bunch of musicians coming in at proper intervals, Mr. Hitchcock can put you into a trance which will last until you go home and wash your face. And longer.

With "Rebecca" the odds are longer. Manderley, the ancestral manse which furnishes the brooding setting, is a natural for Mr. Hitchcock. He can make well polished and handsome furniture eerie. He does. By focusing the film entirely through his heroine, preserving the novel's first person, the audience sympathies are caught up and each strangeness is a personal responsibility.

Joan Fontaine Excellent Casting is admirable. Joan Fontaine now wears a halo as a result of her sensitive job as the young, shy, terrified successor to Rebecca, Lawrence Olivier is personable as the tortured husband. Over any one, though, must stand Judith Anderson as the villainous housekeeper. Even now her dark face leers at us from our typewriter.

"Rebecca" is a good story. And it has interesting psychological suggestions. It is a Hitchcock work of art thoroughly adult.

You may need Deanna Durbin to cheer you up after you come out from under Hitchcock. "It's a Date," of a titles, would gladden the heart of even a current melancholy Dane.

Colonials Face Terps Tomorrow

Colonial Nine Meets Temple Saturday

By BILL UMSTEAD

RAIN, HAIL AND SNOW washed out the Colonial-Richmond baseball game last Friday and the Buff nine heads into a tough three-game schedule this week with a season record of two wins and one defeat.

The Colonials meet the strong Maryland Terps at College Park tomorrow afternoon and then play Temple University at the East Ellipse Saturday and the Washington and Lee nine at Lexington, Va., next Monday.

Maryland, one of the best Southern Conference teams, will be a favorite to lick the Buffmen in their battle tomorrow. The Terps have a season record of four wins and two defeats and have scored victories over both Dartmouth and Vermont this season. Maryland swamped Vermont 16-2 and nosed out the Indians 3-2 while the Colonials lost to Dartmouth 8-2, but nosed out Vermont, 3-0.

Keller leads Terps at bat. Two star pitchers, Earl Springer, highly touted southpaw, and Pershing Mondorf, big right-hander, will lead the Terps tomorrow. Springer is slated for the major leagues after his graduation while Mondorf is a three-letterman and is credited with the win over Vermont this year.

Hugh Keller, brother of the New York Yankees' Charley Keller, is the heavy hitter in the Maryland lineup and is leading the team in batting with an average well over .500. Keller, an outfielder, is considered one of the best batsmen in college baseball and packs a long-distance punch at the plate. Adam Bengochea, an infielder, is batting at a .412 clip for the Old Liners and Merle Duvall, sophomore catcher, is rapping the horsehide at a better than .400 average.

The probable starting lineup for Maryland is: Maisei, rf; Culver, cf; Bengochea, 2b; Keller, lf; Cox, 1b; Burns, c; McAlale, 3b; Wharton, ss; Springer or Mondorf, p. Temple is not strong team. Temple brings a team to Washington composed of sophomores mainly and is not regarded as a very strong opponent for the Colonials. Coach Pep Young, Temple mentor for nine years, was a major league player with the Detroit Tigers and the Philadelphia Athletics.

Last year the Owls won six games and lost eleven and this season the outlook is even darker. The starting pitcher for the Owls will probably be either Andy Tomasic, Temple football star, or George Monroe, sophomore right-hander. Leading the team at the plate is George Nemchik, shortstop, who batted .350 last year, and Bill Kucker, hard hitting outfielder. Other veterans on the team are Ed Dunn, catcher, and George Honchick, outfielder.

Temple's starting lineup will probably be: Dunn, c; Tomasic or Monroe, p; Pasquella, 1b; Must, 2b; Nemchik, ss; Casale, 3b; Kucker, lf; Honchick, cf; Davis, rf. Generals Are Dangerous. Washington and Lee is not one of the strongest teams in the South but the Generals are always dangerous. Shortstop Ronnie Thompson and Catcher Gil Mangan provide the batting punch for the Generals. Their starting pitcher against the Colonials will be either Gregerson or Brown. The Generals have the advantage of playing on their home diamond and will offer stiff opposition to the Buffmen.

The regular Washington and Lee lineup is: Gary, 3b; Thompson, ss; Kelm, rf; Mangan, c; Cavana, 1b; Dangler, lf; Baugher, cf; Elleston, 2b; Gregerson or Brown, p.

W.A.A. News Flashes

Fencing MARION PAULS and Phyllis Palmer were voted President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively, at the recent elections of the Fencing Club.

Golf THE ESTATE of Dr. Robert Bolwell will be the scene of a golf tournament sponsored by the University Saturday, April 27. University of Maryland, Wilson Teachers' College and American University females will be the guests of the Buff and Blue drivers.

Any interested women may try out for the team representing the University. Those who are not taking golf are requested to turn in a score card for three rounds, that is, twenty-seven holes, to either Miss Turnbull or Mary Queally as soon as possible.

THE ANNUAL Doubles Tennis Tournament comes off May 5 and 11. The University of Maryland and Wilson Teachers College join us for an invitation meet Saturday, May 18 at 2:00 p.m. Each school will be represented by two singles players and two doubles teams.

Archery WEEKLY tournaments are run off by the archery classes on the monument range. Some of our archers will participate in the coming national meet, in which Peggy Kinsman last year won a gold medal. A telegraphic meet with several other colleges is also anticipated.

Lacrosse ANNE PUGH, All-American hockey and lacrosse player, instructed some of our young hopefuls in the very fine art of lacrosse Sunday at the Bryn Mawr School in Baltimore. Those who braved the zero weather to learn to "rock the cradle" were Ethel Hoffman, Catherine Moore, Marion Pauls, Roselyn Pope, and Becky Yobst.

RESULTS of the Intramural Badminton Tournament are as follows: Kappa Delta defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma, 15-2, 15-6. Chi Omega defeated Phi Mu, 15-3, 15-6. Zeta Tau Alpha defeated Pi Beta Phi, 15-13, 15-10. Kappa Delta defeated Phi Sigma Sigma, 15-8, 15-3. Sigma Kappa won from Chi Omega by default.

Hatchet Reporter Interviews Fighter

By DOTY LEWIS

HANDSOME, unassuming Buddy Scott, heavyweight fighter and former George Washington University student, said yesterday that he believes boxing would be a good sport to have at the University. Mr. Scott studied journalism here and played halfback on the football team in '36 and '37. Before coming here he attended Oklahoma Military Academy where he played football with Jay Turner of the Washington Redskins.

He started boxing at 11 years of age, but he did not take it seriously until he entered Junior College. Up to that time he would box merely to get into carnivals in his hometown, Dallas, Texas.

The rugged, well-built Mr. Scott resembles very closely Randolph Scott of the movies. He is 23 years old and the proud father of 27-month-old twin girls. He is bringing his wife and daughters here to Washington where he expects to remain. He comes from a family of fighters, having three brothers who are all professionals.

During his boxing career he has fought Bob Pastor, who won a close decision over him; Tony Musto, and Hobo Williams over whom he won a decision. He also fought Lou Nova and held him to a draw. Negotiations are being made to have Billy Conn, light-heavyweight champion, fight the winner of Monday night's bout between Buddy Scott and Dan Hassett at Turner's Arena.

Net Men Best West Virginia

THE VARSITY NETMEN defeated West Virginia, 6 to 3, on the Columbia Country Club courts Thursday. Bus Fleming, playing No. 2 for the Colonials, suffered a sprained ankle in the second set of his match with Elsey, and was forced to default.

SINGLES—Johnsen (G. W.) defeated Guddevar, 6-2, 6-2; Elsey (W. Va.) defeated Fleming, 9-7, default; Davis (G. W.) defeated Coffield, 6-0, 6-4; Hawkins (W. Va.) defeated Blankin, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2; Madden (G. W.) defeated Waddell, 6-1, 6-4; Mann (G. W.) defeated Nicorro, 6-3, 6-1.

DOUBLES—Johnsen-Blankin (G. W.) defeated Guddevar-Elsey, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2; Madden-Davis (G. W.) defeated Waddell-Hawkins, 7-5, 6-2; Corfield-Klebe (W. Va.) defeated Ashton-Mann, 6-2, 8-6.

Due to inclement weather the game with Michigan, scheduled for Saturday, was postponed. Yesterday the team played Washington and Lee at Lexington, Va.

Today the Colonial netters play V. M. I. at Lexington and return home to play Temple here on Thursday. Their next match will be against Georgetown on April 24.

Pawnpushers Play Hoyas Tuesday

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY will be the first competitive opponent of the recently-organized chess club when the two teams push pawns at Georgetown next Tuesday.

Eliminations are being completed to determine the George Washington forces, with the draw standings to date as follows:

1. Bruce Bendigo
2. Melvin Bera
3. Herbert Ben
4. Peter Margolis
5. Paul McClenon
6. Jeff Abercombie
7. George Clark

Opportunities are excellent for obtaining a team position since eliminations are in their very first stages and the above rankings are merely the results of a draw and but a few actual matches.

Final arrangements for representation will be completed at Thursday's meeting in D-103 at 12:30 p.m. Interested clubs, players and experts may call Paul McClenon at Shepherd 5381 or attend Thursday's meeting.

Baseball Card

G. W. 2; Dartmouth, 8. G. W. 3; Vermont, 6. G. W. 12; Wilson Teachers, 2. G. W. Richmond, postponed on account of rain.

April 17—Maryland, away. 20—Temple, here. 22—Washington and Lee, away. 23—V. M. I., away.

May 3—Washington and Lee, away. 8—Western Maryland, home. 11—Western Maryland, away. 15—Maryland, home. 18—West Virginia, home. 21—Georgetown, home. 26—Navy, away.

All home games will be played at 2:30 p.m. on the Ellipse.

Rain, Cold Weather Halt Greek Baseball

By TOM McCALL

GREEK BASEBALL activity suffered considerably Sunday after Old Man Winter moved back into town Friday afternoon with a lightning "blitzkrieg" to drive Spring's demoralized forces southward and retain an icy grip on Washington.

Postponements were numerous Sunday morning on the Ellipse diamonds as Winter still held his frigid mastery over a shivering city. Continued wintry blasts, snow flurries and threatening skies forced postponements of three of the six scheduled games.

Kappa Sigma Win, 18-7.

Only two hardy Greek nines, in League A, managed to put in an appearance at 11 o'clock, as Kappa Sigma swamped Acacia 18-7 in four innings. In League B, all six teams were on hand at 9 a.m., but only four of them completed their contests as Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Alpha called off activities after one and a half innings of play with the score at 3-all.

Sigma Chi trimmed S. A. E. 17-6, and Tau Sigma Rho scored a 12-1 triumph over Theta Delta Chi in the two games played in that loop. Tim Swift's long, triple with two teammates on base in the 5th inning was the big factor in a four-run Tau Sig uprising as Eddie Amendola and Vic Sampson handcuffed the Theta Delta batters. The two twirlers gave up only one hit and struck out nine in five innings while the winners were getting seven safes off Pitchers Don Pinnow, Ed Gee and Bob Duthie, of Theta Delta Chi.

Kappa Sigma punched over two runs in both the first and second innings against Acacia to nullify any doubt of their superiority. Joe Bob Gale's single, double and triple in three plate appearances were part of the winners' major offensive.

Acacia Scores 5 Runs. Acacia bunched their hits to score five runs in the fourth inning as Pitcher Jack Redd finally curbed the uprising. John Breckinridge worked behind the plate for the winners. Bob Dearth, Bob Howie, pitchers, and catcher Stanley Peterson were the Acacia battery. Redd cut down several Acacia batters via the strike-out route.

Wes Taylor Tops Colonial Batters With .500 Mark

WES TAYLOR, the Colonials' sophomore catcher, is leading the team in batting with an average of .500 according to the averages computed after the first three games of the season. Although he has been to bat only six times during the year, Taylor has made three hits this season.

Roy McNeil, George Garber and Lee Lusby all are tied for second place with a .300 average. Bob Nowaskey has an average of .400, but has appeared at the plate only five times this year. Garber leads the team in runs scored with four to his credit, while Lusby has made the longest hit—a long triple in the Wilson game.

The averages for the first three games are as follows:

| Player   | AB | R  | H | Avg. |
|----------|----|----|---|------|
| Taylor   | 3  | 0  | 3 | .500 |
| Nowaskey | 5  | 3  | 2 | .400 |

Colonial Frosh Faces Hoyas

UNDER THE direction of Coach Sonny Jones, former varsity football tackle, the freshman baseball team will open its season against the strong Georgetown frosh nine tomorrow afternoon.

The frosh started practice last Thursday, but little is known about the squad as yet. No complete schedule has been arranged by the athletic department, but most of the games will be against local high school teams.

Led by two star pitchers, Bill Reedy and Joe Wells, the Hoyas offer a good team. The Georgetown nine opened its season with George Washington High last Thursday and defeated the President's 6-3 behind the combined four-hit pitching of Reedy and Wells. Bill Borneheimer, Hoya catcher, leads the team at the plate and socked a home run in the Hoyas' game last week.

Delphi Bids Highlight Panhel

• BEAUTIFUL SPRING formal, adorned by lovely corsages, swirled about the Willard Ball room Wednesday night, to the tunes of Jack Teagarden's orchestra at the annual Panhellenic Prom.

Highlighting the evening was the tapping by Delphi, women's honorary activities organization. Eleven sorority girls were signaled during intermission for the Delphi awards, presented for outstanding work done within their sororities, and for their social activities on campus.

New members tapped were Helen Carstarphen and Barbara Hanford of Kappa Delta; Lindsley Brown, Alpha Delta Pi; Ruth Warren, Chi Omega; Phyllis Barnes, Delta Zeta; Sue Freston, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Virginia Saegmuller and Jane McGraw of Pi Beta Phi; Ruth Brunner, Phi Mu; Florence James, Sigma Kappa; and Betty Wilkinson of Zeta Tau Alpha.

The Grand March, which preceded the tapping by Delphi, was led by Frances Roffe, social chairman of Panhel, who wore a stunning gown of blue crepe. Jane Coulter, President of Panhel, followed in the march, and was lovely in flowery print.

Drawing many "Oh's" and "Ah's" was Doris Thompson in a very lovely black dress over a hoop skirt.

Cups Presented

Activity cups were presented during intermission by Jane Coulter to Kappa Delta for highest scholarship; to Kappa Kappa Gamma for their govt. show and highest scholarship; to Delta Zeta for the pledge scholarship; to Zeta Tau Alpha for bowling; and to the Colonial Campus Club for badminton.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, trustee of the University, presented a John Ford Balfour's Jewelry Company, who presented a cup to Pi Beta Phi for winning first prize in the Buy-a-Brick Campaign, sponsored by the Women Student's Government Association. Mrs. Evans presented the second prize, a five dollar flower order, to Kappa Delta, and third prize, to Sigma Kappa.

2. All tickets torn from the activity book to those in charge of the polls will be torn in half so as to indicate that they have been used in voting.

Rolling Places

4. Official polling places will be as follows: Hall of Government, Law School, Student Club, Medical School. Polls will be open during school hours beginning at 8:30 to 1:45 to 7:30 p.m.

5. Two people, one from each party, shall be assigned to each polling place and shall be considered as having full authority in regulating the voting and shall enforce the rules which apply to voting.

6. No distribution of pamphlets, or other literature which is any way connected with the election shall be permitted in the room wherein the polling booth is located except the Student Club, where a rest room area will be set up for the booth.

Electioneering

7. Those in charge of polls shall not indicate in any way their preference for certain candidates or any party who is sponsoring any candidate. This rule does not apply when such persons are not on duty at the polls.

8. Under no circumstances will any one be permitted to enter the voting booth while another person is voting therein, except in case of emergency.

Rule Violations

9. No person may cast more than one vote at this election. Any persons guilty of violating this rule, and if proven to be working in behalf of a recognized party, will be subject to the penalties stated hereafter.

10. Should any irregularities or fraud, not specifically mentioned in these rules, occur, the Advocate will likewise bring such irregularities or fraud to the attention of the Elections Committee for appropriate action by them.

11. Any violation of these rules will result in a forfeiture of 250 votes of the party which was guilty of such violation. These 250 votes shall be forfeited at the discretion of that party. If an individual is found to violate these rules, the party to which he belongs will be ascertained, or the party in whose behalf he is working, and such person will be guilty of the violation. Provided, however, that evidence does not show that he violated these rules for sole purpose of causing a forfeiture of votes by a party.

12. The voting for senior class officers will be held in the Student Club only during regular election hours. Only seniors may vote. A list will be used to check off the names of the voters.

have been used in the election will be replaced by mimeographed ballots. The Jamestown Voting Machine Company, which has supplied the machines in the past, was not notified by the Student Council Advocate sufficiently in advance.

Election committee members are Edgar Baker and Carter Bowen, of the Reform Party, and Alie Miller and Joe Bob Gale, of the Service Party. Prof. Henry G. Roberts has consented to act as the fifth member, ex-officio, on irregularities in balloting.

Activity books will be the only identification acceptable at the polls. Accordingly, the Advocate urged all students to bring their activity books and vote, but not wait for the last minute to vote.

Incumbent Advocate Richard McDonald predicted that the ballots would be counted by 10 p.m. Friday. Party members from both sides will be drafted to help tabulate the election returns.

Confidence that the election returns would be favorable for the Reform Party was expressed by Carter Bowen, party chairman. "The popularity of the Reform Party among campus organizations indicates a general trend of resentment against inefficient student government," said Bowen. "Besides, the Institution of our 'Gripe Department' in the Student Club, which will welcome complaints about student government, will give us a better idea of how to institute reforms once we are in office."

Representative of the Service Party could not be reached for a pre-election prediction.

Following The Socialites

By HELEN CARSTARPHEN, Society Editor

• THE USUAL ROUND of parties and dances on the campus have given way in a large part to political meetings and more political meetings this week.

The reason, obviously, is the fact that general elections on the campus will take place next Thursday and Friday, and following them the Buff and Blue room which will spell victory for some and defeat for others.

In the meanwhile, all is not dead quiet on the fraternity front, as a few of these organizations have braved the storm of political dissection and carried on as usual.

More than 35 couples danced at the Spring Formal of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, which was held at the Phi Sig house on Saturday night. Chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the dance was Willis Davis. Jack King's orchestra furnished the music.

Exchange dinners are still in the limelight. Last Sunday night the Tau Sig entertained the Kappas at a buffet supper at their Mass. Ave. fraternity house.

The Sigma Nus announced the election of their new officers which they chose last Sunday. Incidentally it cost $5.00 to elect the following men, because they had to forfeit a baseball game for elections: Pat Henry, Commander; John Connell, Lieutenant-Commander; Bill Holloway, treasurer; Harold Hudson, Interfraternity delegate; and Kim Voight, secretary.

While we are speaking of elections the KA's announced the complete list of officers for the ensuing year: Maurice Bieser, President; Roy Powell, Vice-president; Bob Wille, Secretary; Bill Pollard, Corresponding secretary; Steve Kennedy, Historian; Hugh Bryan, Treasurer; Charlie Hurd, Censor; Bob Willingham, Doorman; Gordon Butler, Usher; Bus Fleming, Interfraternity Delegate; and Gardner Franklin, Social chairman.

By the way, we thought that Joe McWhirt was a fast worker when he pinned Doty Brockman after 5 dates, but Charley Chapman, the KA "CV" man, did even better. He had one date with Gertrude Durren when they decided to start going steady. She isn't pinned, but it is because he doesn't have a jeweled pin and the KA's can't give their official badge.

To get back to the elections of the week, Tau Sig elected Vic Sampson president Sunday. Other officers are Bill Hargett, vice-president; Chris Gagle, secretary; "Tippy" Walker, treasurer; "Tex" Coffey, corresponding secretary; Dick Baurfeld, activities chairman; Paul Van Hemert, House manager; and Carter Bowen, Interfraternity delegate.

New owners of the Tau Sig pin included Chris Gagle, Dick Baurfeld, Fred Behn, Blake Lancaster, Eugene Crowe, James Toothman, Frank Traynor, and Ed Amendola. Delta Tau Delta held its annual election last Monday and decided to retain its president, Richard McDonald for another year. McDonald was elected by a unanimous vote. Other officers elected with him were J. M. Woodard, vice-president; J. A. Chesson, corresponding secretary; Dave Mitchell, recording secretary; and John O'Donnell, Interfraternity delegate. At the same time the new pledge class was organized and Tom Fowler was chosen to lead the group.

Phi Delta Gamma, composed of women taking graduate work at the university, elected new officers, Nelle Shannon, president; Dorothy Veon, vice-president; Caroline Dabb, recording secretary; Dora Thie, corresponding secretary; Gladys Anderson, treasurer; Clarissa Osbury, registrar; Clarissa Clausen, historian; Florence Siffert, editor; Mildred Green, program chairman and Elizabeth Fielden, national council delegate at its meeting Sunday.

The Tekes held their annual Spring formal at the House Saturday night.

Next June 29, Elaine Berry will board the train at her hometown, Chicago for one glorious week at Sun Valley, Idaho. Elaine, a junior at the University, has been chosen Gamma Chi chapter's delegate to the Kappa Kappa Gamma national convention.

Plans for the annual Delta Tacky party are being completed by Social Chairman James Chesson and his committee. Stanley Jennings and Bud Cleary recently pledged.

Phi Sigma Kappa's annual Carnation Ball will be held in the combined ballrooms of the Hotel 2400, April 26, a tri-chapter committee decided last week. Jimmy Livingston will bring his orchestra from the University of North Carolina

Mrs. Marvin Entertains Faculty Club

• MRS. CLOYD HECK MARVIN entertained the Faculty Women's Club at her home at 2439 Tracy Place on Friday, April 12.

The Spring program of the organization was presented at this meeting at which readings were presented by Mrs. Sally Fauntleroy Johnson. Mrs. Marvin sang two groups of songs, the first by Gounod and Bohm, the second by the more modern composers.

After the much-too-short recital, tea was served at which Mrs. W. C. Van Vleck, wife of the Dean of the Law School, and Mrs. Elmer L. Kayser, wife of the Dean of University Students, presided at the two tables.
